

At Gateway, we don't believe banking should cost the earth, that's why we are proud to launch our two new Home Loans designed to reward customers who have made the commitment to live in a home that is gentler on the environment. Our two products offer the Green Plus Home Loan for energy efficient homes with a certified 7 Star NatHERS rating homes, and a separate Green Home Loan package for homes that don't quite meet this certification but still feature a range environmentally friendly elements.

Offering the same flexibility and benefits as our Premium Package Home Loan, our Green Loans offer a discounted rate to reward the levels of environmental features on the property being purchased.

To round out a truly green banking proposition, we are saying goodbye to paying with plastic as we launch Australia's first Eco Debit Card. Unlike traditional payment cards that are made from fossil-fuel based PVC, the body of the Gateway Eco Debit Card is made from Polylactic Acid (PLA), a monomer that is created from fermented plant starch - typically cornstarch or sugarcane. Production of the Eco Debit Card uses 65% less energy than producing a conventional plastic card and generates 68% fewer greenhouse gases.

For more information about Gateway's eco products and purpose visit our Eco Hub, or if you have a scenario that you would like to discuss, call Gateway on 1800 752 575.

Kind regards,

The Gateway Team
